Cf. Henry B. Tiessen, "The Molotschna Colony: A Heritage Remembered", esp. pp. 98-9 where he speaks of his grandfather, Johann Thiessen. He had a so-called full farm (Vollwirtschaft). He liked to follow the news; he also kept a complete daily diary on climactic conditions, about the beginning of seeding time, and about the various crop yields, etc. He was good at predicting weather conditions. He kept records for over 40 years. He had a modest collection of books. They wrote many letters and cards to their children.
