

FOOTNOTES, DEIRDRE EPP 1690

1. In fairness it should be noted that the Epp family also included fanatical adherents of Separatist Pietism such as David Epp (1770-1860) minister of the Bethesda Congregation in Florida and his nephew Claas Epp who in the 1800s led a group of radical "Millennialists" to the Antilles with the "Second Coming" in mind and with the preaching of "Tog-tilling" which went in line with the Prussian-Russian Mennonites of the time. See The Bible Year and Clas Epp's Journal of the Millennialists.

2. Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70.

3. Annals of the Mennonite Church, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70.

4. Century Primer, "Epp", pp. 2, 300.

5. Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70. The Epp family, by providing me with the information of David Epp born 1690, helped me to write August 10, 1970.

6. I am particularly indebted to Anna Epp, daughter of David Epp, who provided me with the information of the "Epp and Anna Epp" Appendix of the Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70. The information of David Epp (1690-1770) is from the Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70.

7. Historical Review, September 15, 1970.

8. Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70. The information of Abel Epp, who was born in 1690, is from the Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70.

9. Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70.

10. Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70.

11. Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70.

12. Historical Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, 1970, pp. 1-2, 70.