

1 plow, 4 horses, 1 harrows, 11 cattle and 28 loads of hay".<sup>93</sup> Jakob Schellenberg seems to have lived here in Tiegenhagen with a relative degree of comfort, a number of his siblings living in nearby villages, Anton in neighbouring Muntau, and two brothers and a sister at the southern end of the Colony. Ted Schellenberg writes that in his last years "Jakob suffered from acute internal pains, accompanied by diarrhoea....The date of his death is not known."<sup>94</sup>

4 It appears that daughter Katharina Schellenberg (born 1797) married Aron Wiebe. According to a Wiebe Family Register located in the holdings of Mennonite Genealogy Inc., Winnipeg, Manitoba, a Katharina Schellenberg of the exact same birth date married a Aron Wiebe.

5 The only information available is of son Jakob Wiebe, who in turn had five children. Hopefully additional information will come to light to verify that Katharina was in fact the daughter of Jakob Schellenberg.<sup>95</sup>

4 Son Jakob Schellenberg (1799-1871) married Anna Willms and the family lived in Tiegenhagen.<sup>96</sup> Both Jakob and wife Anna are reported to have died there. Since all of the other sons appear to have lived elsewhere, and since Jakob was the oldest, it appears logical that he took over the family farm in the village of Tiegenhagen.<sup>97</sup>

5 Son Jakob J.Schellenberg (1829-1901) married Maria Baerkman who was born in Tiege.<sup>100</sup> The Jakob Schellenberg family apparently lived in Tiegenhagen, the birthplace of their children, and where they also died.

6 Daughter Margaretha Schellenberg (1859-1930) married Cornelius Loepp, who was born in Muntau.<sup>101</sup> The family lived in Tiegenhagen and emigrated to Canada in 1925 where they settled in St.Elizabeth, Manitoba. Daughter Anna Schellenberg (1861-1950) married Johan J. Braun, born in Tiegenhagen, the son of Johan Braun (1825-1917).<sup>102</sup> The Johan Braun family also came to St. Elizabeth, Manitoba, where he died.<sup>103</sup> Son Gerhard Schellenberg (1871-1962) married the widow Abram Wiens (died 1905), nee Katharina Friesen. The family settled in Leamington, Ontario.<sup>104</sup>
