Dear Mr. Thiessen:

Thank you for your letter of May 14. You state that there are differences in our information and that mistakes may have been made in copying information. The information you have is probably more accurate than mine and certainly appears to be of the families I am searching for.

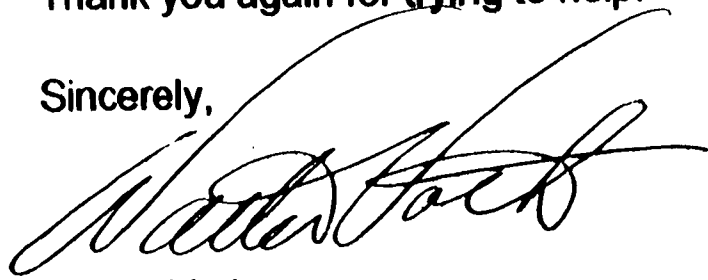

As you can see from the attached, my information is very sketchy and handed down from family members. The chart shows a Wilhelm Zacharias, born 1745, and married to Agatha Dueck. The other sheet shows a Wilhelm Zacharias, whose second wife was Agatha Dyck (Dueck). His first wife was Anna Reimer and their daughter Maria was born in 1748 according to the information. Obviously there is an error there somewhere. I also thought that the two names, Franz and Paul, were sons of Maria and Cornelious Zimmerman. The sheet does not clarify that.

If your records contain more information of the Wilhelm Zacharias family and his ancestors and decendants, I would like to update and correct my records. Thank you for providing whatever data you can to help me do that. If you find that I did not send enough money, please advise how much more time you think you may need.

I apologize for not being able to communicate better with you in German. When I was young I could read and write German fluently, but through non-use have forgotten most of it.

Thank you again for trying to help.

Sincerely,

Walter Voth
