33. It has been speculated that she may have been the second wife of Gerhard Rempel (1816-1888) who settled in Jansen, Nebraska in 1876. There is no evidence for this other than the fact that members of a Gemeinde tended to marry within their own circles and also that Gerhard Rempel may have been a widower at the appropriate time. See Profile, 235-236.

35. During his trip to Russia in 1908 M.B. Fast notes that the brick hay shed which had belonged to his grandfather Martin Barkman is missing. Many older buildings in Rueckenau were destroyed by a fire in about 1904. See M.B. Fast, Reisebericht, op.cit., 62. These hay sheds were used for threshing so that ~~the~~ work could continue in ~~case~~ ^{events} of rain.

40. Most of the information for the biographies of the children of Martin J. Barkman settling in Jansen, Nebraska, is taken from the work of Henry Fast, "The Kleine Gemeinde in the United States of America", in Profile, 87-143. Additional biographical information is found in the 1880 Nominal Census and Property Listing for Cub Creek Precinct which has also been published in Profile, 141-149.

41. The listing of the grandchildren of Martin J. Barkman (1796-1872) is based the Familien-Verzeichnis des Martin J. Barkman by son Peter M. Barkman of Hillsboro, Kansas, op.cit.. The same has been translated and partially published in Frank P. Wiebe, Genealogy of Jakob Barkman 1825-1975, op.cit., 7-10, and again in a more complete format by Jo Ferguson, The Barkman Family Volume
