

In 1944 he finally decided to have surgery to correct a hernia problem which had plagued him for many years. After this surgery was successfully performed, before he could leave the hospital, his gall bladder ruptured. He died on December 23, 1944.¹⁸ Both he and Katie are buried in the Mountain Lake cemetery.